Schedule Benefit Boxing Matches For March Of Dimes Drive Saturday

Observations... By UDELL

The Chamber of Commerce is now occupying its spacious new quarters on the second floor of the City Hall. . . . Because of its many functions and duties, a Chamber of Commerce is a vital organization in every community. . . . Citizens realizing this should lose no time in getting their membership dues paid. . . . The drive is now on. . . .

C. Y. O. members of Kiln and White Cypress are starting a drive for funds to help build a Youth Center in their community. . . . Two Missionary priests and three sisters will remain in charge of the direction and all programs. . . . The importance of youth work is the necessity of proper guidance in religion and recreation. . . . Under the supervision of Rev. Father Charles and his assistants, the youth of these communities. . . . When you are called upon to help this worthy cause, give generously. . . .

Last week, we were notified that the final date of registration for citizens reaching the age of 21, transfers, or new residents who have fulfilled the requirements of two years residence, was January 12. . . . Well, Monday the Commissioners told us that the final date for registration is February 2, 1953, which is four months before the general election to be held June 2, 1953. . . . This registration is only for those who have not previously registered. . . . because once you have registered, it is good until a new registration is called. . . . The first primary for the City election will be May 12, 1953. . . . A second primary, if necessary, will be held May 19, 1953. . . . The general election is scheduled for June 2. . . . Be sure and register if you are eligible and are not already registered, and be sure and pay your poll tax before February 1. . . . Always remember, "Bad officials are elected by good citizens who do not vote." . . .

This week forest fires have started again. . . . The local fire department and forest rangers have answered several calls to fight fires that could have caused serious damage to homes nearby if they had gotten out of control. . . . On Dunbar avenue, the Johnson property was ablaze three times during the week, and the fire was dangerously near the street. . . . On the Drackett property at the corner of Dunbar and Felicita, the fire was put out just as it started into the Griffin yard. . . . If the people who started these fires, probably through carelessness, would only stop and think of the danger involved, they would certainly make it a point to be careful. . . . The young pine trees that were destroyed or damaged in these fires this week, represent a sizeable loss. . . .

A boxing match for the benefit of the March of Dimes will be held at Bay High Saturday, January 17, at 7:30 p. m. . . . Be sure and attend. . . . Don't forget to send your contribution to the March of Dimes this week. . . .

"One of our subscribers sent the following article written by a great statesman, Abraham Lincoln, and we think it is worth reprinting at this time when so many have forgotten God. . . . "We have been the recipients of the richest bounties of Heaven; we have grown in numbers, wealth, and power as no other nation has ever grown. . . . But we have forgotten God. . . . We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. . . . Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us." . . .

Plan Cakewalk
The Clermont Harbor Mothers Club will sponsor a homestead cakewalk at the school Friday, January 16, at 7:30 p. m. . . .

Proceeds will be used for the school's carnival float. This is the first time that the school has taken part in the annual parade. . . .

County To Receive Seedling Shipment

Mr. Stewart especially recommends that all landowners planting seedlings this year arrange their plans so that planting will take place as soon as possible after delivery is made in the county. . . .

The seedlings are packed in wet moss when they leave the nursery. This is sufficient moisture to keep the trees in excellent condition for a short time. However, the seedlings will be damaged if they are left unattended in the bundle for an extended period. . . .

If the landowner is not in a position to plant the seedlings when they arrive, he should have them in immediately. Planting, heeling in and handling instructions accompany the seedlings. Further information and instructions, if needed, may be obtained from Area Forester Stewart or other agricultural workers in this county. . . .

The seedlings will be brought to Bay St. Louis and the landowners will receive further notice of the date the seedlings will arrive. . . .

LEASING OF SCHOOL LAND AND APPOINTMENT OF APPRAISERS
Whereas, application has been made to the Superintendent of Education of Hancock County for the final approval of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County for the leasing of the following described land:

Proposed Budget Will Cost $2,219,250 For Hancock Co.

Mississippi taxpayers will be required to pay $392,935,000 as their share of the 78.5 billion dollar federal spending program, if adopted by Congress, as proposed by President Truman, the Mississippi Economic Council estimates. The cost of the proposed budget to Hancock County would be $2,219,250.

The MEC arrives at the figure by applying an accepted economic index which shows the state bears one-half of one percent of the total federal tax bill. The index shows Hinds, the wealthiest county in the state, to pay 1.12% of the state's tax bill, which means the proposed federal budget would cost Hinds $47,750,824.

Figuring it another way, the MEC estimate shows that each citizen will go over $49.68 million in debt during the next federal fiscal year, as a result of the anticipated 9.9 billion deficit. Broken down to Hinds county again, the county will approximately be $5,400,000 further in debt.

The Council points out these figures in an attempt to make the proposed federal budget more understandable to the average citizen. President Otto R. Smith of Meridian stated, "Billions spent from Washington are hard to realize in dollars and cents back home. Yet, accurate estimates can be made."

Total grants-in-aid for Mississippi during 1951, according to figures furnished by our congressional delegation, amounted to slightly less than $150 million. The formula used by the Council consists of three factors, namely: direct taxes on individuals, including income, estate and gift taxes, corporate income taxes, and miscellaneous taxes. Each factor is weighed statistically in accordance with the ratio which the revenue from each type of tax bears to total revenues from these taxes in the nation. Estimates for the Council of State Chambers of Commerce in Washington figures the index for the various states, including Mississippi.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the Council is not taking a position, one way or the other, on the necessity of the proposed budget, but that the figures are released to make citizens tax conscious. He explained that the proposed direct and indirect federal "take" in Mississippi for the next fiscal year would be approximately five times what it costs the state to operate for a year, according to biennial appropriations.

ADULTS

A name familiar to the sports field and particularly in basketball will be on display Friday, January 23 when the world famous House of David Basketball Team takes on Stake House at Bay High gym in a game that will be full of basketball mirth, madness, ability, comedy and humor that should please everyone, young and old alike.

The team shown above, is composed of, left to right, McDaniel, Cox, Roth, Gordon and Lebeck. The famous bearded Davids will walk out on the floor headed by Clever Clowning dimutive Bobby Roth, basketball's fastest breaking forward as well as the Crown Prince of Mirth. Following Roth in this order will be a young giant who stands seven foot in height, wears a size 17 shoe and answers to the name of "Moose" Gordon. This young giant will give the opposing center a busy night in the scoring column. Then comes big Norm Cox who weighs 215 pounds, stands six feet five inches tall and is a heavy scorer for the Davids; Big Norm will be opposite Roth at the other forward spot. Next comes a southern boy from out of Texas university, pivot man "Daniel" Boone McDaniel who stands six feet four inches and tips the scales at 200 pounds. To complete the David starting five is veteran, Ross Lebeck, who played college basketball at the University of Washington and was a Pacific coast standout before joining the House of David Basketeers.

Have You Made Your Will?

Well, have you? If your answer is "no" a good way to begin the New Year is to get busy.

Change the answer to "yes."

Don't be morbid or superstitious about making a will. It's just good, common sense business. It is a privilege everyone should take advantage of.

A will is your means of planning for the future distribution of your property. Ask your Home Demonstration Agent for a copy of Extension Publication 218 "Have You Made Your Will." It is an 8 page bulletin prepared to answer some of the more common questions about wills. It defines a few of the legal terms used in making such a document.

BOOK CHICK ORDERS EARLY

Poultrymen advise you to book your chick orders early. But be sure you are getting good chicks from reliable source. Buy from a hatchery or chick dealer at home or near by. Shipping hazards increase with distance.

TWO FROM ONE

If you have a rubber plant that has grown too tall and lanky, it can be "cut down" to its rightful size. At the same time you can get another plant.

You can do this by an old Chinese method of propagating, called "marcottage" or air-layering. It works on the same principle as layering an azalea plant.

In that case, you pin a low-growing link of the azalea to the ground and new roots form, resulting in a new plant.

With the rubber plant, this process is carried out at a point up the stem of the plant. Cut a notch in the stem, just below the leaves, and wrap the place with sphagnum moss or old rags. Keep damp. When roots begin to show growth, cut the old stem just below the moss or rags, and put up the "new" plant.

SHEET SUPPLY GETTING LOW

Numbers of homemakers will be adding new sheets and pillow cases to their supplies during January.

A guide that you can go-by to determine how many sheets you need is: Where possible, there should be three changes of sheets for each bed - least three sheets for each bed. If you add one pair of sheets each year, the supply for the average family should be plentiful.

As for pillow cases, you need two to each pair of double sheets and one to each pair of twin or single sheets.

You see many more colored sheets in store now. They are attractive in pairs with pillow cases to match. They are poor buys, however, unless you select them to fit into the color scheme of a particular room and use them together.

For general household use, muslin sheets are recommended to the homemaker who must watch her budget. Get the best grade if you can afford it and have a washing machine, or send your laundry out. The heavy weight sheets are hard to handle in laundering.

If you wash and wring by hand, you may prefer the medium grade. It is easier to handle, will wear well and is less expensive.

The first requirement of a sheet is the right size. All sheets should be 108 inches in torn length for best wear and tucking under. Torn length means the sheets are measured and torn across to get true edges. First choice for double bed sheets is 90 by 108 and for twin beds 72 by 108 inches.

Sheets that are long enough to give plenty of foot room without pulling out and a generous turn back at the top will have less pull and strain and will last longer.

Suitable material is the second recommendation for good sheets. The materials should have a high thread count and be smooth and free from sizing or filling. Check the workmanship of hems and corners, wide, firm selvages and appearance also.

—Dr. and Mrs. Henry Larose and children, Sissy and Jay of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buckley and daughters, Phyllis and Caroline of Gulfport, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larose recently.

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

POULTRY

The first week is critical with baby chicks. Be sure that your chicks get careful attention at all times and especially during the first week.

Regulate the brooder stove so that the temperature will be 90 degrees to 95 degrees F. Two and a half inches above the litter at the edge of the brooder canopy. Maintain this temperature during the first week. Reduce the temperature three to five degrees each week. However, brooder temperature should be kept about 70 degrees F.

Keep the chicks close to the brooder during the first week. Place a guard, made from cardboard, wire mesh or hardware cloth, at least one foot high about four feet from the edge of the cover and all the way round. Place feed on egg flats, paper or chick box lids inside the enclosure for the first three days. Use fruit jar waterers close to the feed. After three days, the chicks can use small feeders.

Remember, crowding makes for wet litter and disease. It may retard growth and prevent proper development. Give your chicks at least a square foot of floor space per chick.

COTTON FERTILIZER

Experiment Station recommendations for cotton fertilizer in 1953 are: For upland medium to heavy soils, 500 pounds of 5-10-5 in seedbed and 45 pounds of nitrogen as a side-dressing; sandy bench land and light bottom land soils, 600-pounds of 6-8-8 in seedbed and 50 pounds of nitrogen as a side-dressing.

Delta sandy loam and silt loam soils, 60 or 75 pounds of nitrogen before planting; clay and silty soils, 90 pounds of nitrogen before planting; sandy loam soils with good internal drainage, 35 pounds of nitrogen before planting; sandy loam soils with good internal drainage, 35 pounds of nitrogen before planting and a side dressing.

The use of higher rates of fertilizer applied under cotton pays higher dividends when a complete insect control program is carried out.

Make your plans now to buy or book your fertilizer needs. Be sure to have the fertilizer on the farm and ready to use when needed.

ORCHARD

Farm families are urged to make new fruit plantings and give needed care to orchards and small fruits. More fruit is needed for home use and local market sale.

For those who have limited space, muscadine grapes, figs, pears and various berries are highly recommended. Where spray equipment is available and families are prepared to follow the recommended spray schedule for controlling insects and diseases; peaches, plums, apples and bunch grapes are recommended.

Congressional Sidelights

Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

THE 83RD CONGRESS

As prescribed by the Constitution the 83rd Congress convened on January 3. While the so-called "lame duck" amendment to the constitution ended the absurd and unhealthy condition under which Members of Congress who were defeated in November continued to make laws up to March 4 of the following year, the New Congress met under somewhat awkward circumstances. These grew out of the fact that the new administration had not taken over the Executive Branch of the Government. The Congress was Republican (by a slim majority), but Democrats still held the Presidency, the Vice-Presidency and the Cabinet posts. The Executive Branch continued to go through the motions of running the Government, and President Truman prepared a message to Congress on the State of the Union and on the budget, but the consciousness that everything done or said now might be set aside or at least changed after January 20 gave all these actions a sort of sleep walking, almost nightmarish, air of unreality and futility. The approaching inauguration of a Republican President for the first time in 20 years overshadowed all else. The Congress could only proceed with its organization and, then mark time until it received the recommendations of the new administration.

RULES

There was a flurry in both Houses over the adoption of rules, provoked in each instance by the advocates of FEPC and other Federal force bills that would invade the rights of individual states.

In the House the CIO sent a letter to each Member calling for the re-adoption of the so-called 21-day rule, which prevailed in the 81st Congress but was rejected in the last Congress. This rule permitted the by-passing of the House Rules Committee, of which, incidentally, I have the honor of serving now as the second ranking Democrat. In the past the FEPC and other radical bills have been blocked by the Rules Committee, to the great indignation of left-wing organizations. The CIO's proposal was that the chairman of a standing committee might call up any bill reported favorably by such committee if the Rules Committee did not act upon it within 21 days after it was referred to the Committee. It was in this way that the FEPC was brought up in the 81st Congress, and while the CIO's letter did not refer to the FEPC bill, it was clear that the maneuver was designed primarily to promote it.

In the Senate group of 19 Senators under the leadership of Humphrey, the most vocal advocate of the Truman civil rights program and a principal backer of the Moody Resolution that would have read Southern delegations out of the Senate almost last fall, introduced a resolution carrying out a suggestion advanced by CIO President Walter Reuther last year that the Senate was not a continuing body but should adopt new rules in Congress. Senator Russell, leader of the Southern group, pointed out that this was contrary to the precedent followed over the past 160 years and submitted that the Constitution set the Senate up as a continuing body by providing that only a third of its membership should come up for election at one time, the other two-thirds carrying over to the next Congress.

The outcome in each House evidenced that the days when the wishes of the left wing almost automatically became the law of the land are at an end. In the House only 58 votes could be mustered in opposition to the adoption of the same rules that prevailed in the 82nd Congress, and a resolution to go back to the 21-day rule was never even introduced. In the Senate only one amendment was picked up by the Humphrey group in the course of the debate, Kuchel, the new senator from the state of California, and the group's proposal was rejected 71 to 20.

FORESTRY NEWS

By JACK STEWART, Area Forester

NEW BUGS ATTACKING MISSISSIPPI TIMBER

We have been reading in the newspapers, for several months, accounts of the great damage being done by the Southern Pine Beetle. No doubt, these beetles have claimed a lot of timber; nevertheless, we have three (3) other bugs in Mississippi that have done and are doing more damage to our timber. These are the Uninformed Firebug, the Incidental Firebug and the Incidental Firebug.

The Uninformed Firebug does not know that a cigarette or match can cause more damage than a stick of dynamite. He doesn't know that uncontrolled fires hurt timber and timberland.

The Incidental Firebug doesn't care what happens. He builds a fire in a hollow tree to smoke out a possum or maybe he builds a fire to keep himself warm. He goes away and lets it burn. Maybe he realizes he should not do it but his indifference causes damage just the same.

The incendiary Firebug is very destructive. He is jealous if the other fellow owns nice property. Maybe he has a grudge. Whatever the reason, he causes tremendous losses in Mississippi.

These firebugs injure and destroy little trees and growing timber. They destroy wildlife, deplete water reserves and damage the soil.

Reports show that we have a great number of these firebugs in our State. We don't want to use such drastic measures as we do on the Southern Pine Beetle but, certainly, we must reduce the number of firebug-started forest fires.

Maybe you know of these bugs. If so, won't you apply control measures. Teach the Uninformed Firebug to know. Help make the Incidental Firebug an interested conversationalist. Train and correct the incendiary Firebug so that he will not be an arsonist, setting fire to our children's homes — 95% of which will probably be made of wood.

Today we need trees more than ever in our history. Wood is used more than 4,000 different ways in our daily lives. Help grow more wood by eliminating these fire bugs.

Says Mr. Tredeaven: "Of all our Mississippi Humane Societies, the Harrison County unit is by far the most active."

While this Humane Society is not yet a year old, it has already taken care of approximately 500 animals, which means these animals have been fed and given medical attention. Lost dogs were stored to their owners, and homes were found for the destroyable ones, owners were painlessly put to sleep. Membership is now 275 members who join at a membership fee of only $2.00 per person. Money obtained through membership fees is used to supply food and medicine for the animals. Other donations are applied toward building the shelter. The society is trying to operate on a pay-as-you-go building basis and not enough money is on hand to complete the roof of the shelter. A Bingo party was given in the Community House recently brought in $153 toward the project and other donations are coming in, according to Mrs. A. J. Stern, a director of the society.

Until last year there was not a single Humane Society in the State of Mississippi, according to Mr. Tredeaven, a national organizer, who has helped to develop eight such societies in Mississippi. Says Mr. Tredeaven: "Of all our Mississippi Humane Societies, the Harrison County unit is by far the most active."

While this Humane Society is not yet a year old, it has already taken care of approximately 500 animals, which means these animals have been fed and given medical attention. Lost dogs were stored to their owners, and homes were found for the destroyable ones, owners were painlessly put to sleep. Membership is now 275 members who join at a membership fee of only $2.00 per person. Money obtained through membership fees is used to supply food and medicine for the animals. Other donations are applied toward building the shelter. The society is trying to operate on a pay-as-you-go building basis and not enough money is on hand to complete the roof of the shelter. A Bingo party was given in the Community House recently brought in $153 toward the project and other donations are coming in, according to Mrs. A. J. Stern, a director of the society.

HARRISON COUNTY HUMANE SOCIETY BUILDS SHELTER

The Harrison County Humane Society of which Joe Drake Harrington is president has under construction an animal shelter located in Gulfport just across from the airport. The building, an acre of ground, was donated to the society by the City of Gulfport.

While this Humane Society is not yet a year old, it has already taken care of approximately 500 animals, which means these animals have been fed and given medical attention. Lost dogs were restored to their owners, and homes were found for the desirable ones, owners were painlessly put to sleep. Membership is now 275 members who join at a membership fee of only $2.00 per person. Money obtained through membership fees is used to supply food and medicine for the animals. Until last year there was, not a single Humane Society in the State of Mississippi, according to Mr. Tredeaven, a national organizer, who has helped to develop eight such societies in Mississippi. Says Mr. Tredeaven: "Of all our Mississippi Humane Societies, the Harrison County unit is by far the most active."

What's Ahead in '53?

Gulf begins 1953 with continuing faith in Mississippi's future as an oil producing State. What '53 will mean in the way of new wells and increased production is unknown, but one thing is certain. The hard and costly work of developing Mississippi's oil and gas resources will go forward. Gulf's plans include a continuance of its program that put more than 15 million dollars in new money into Mississippi during 1952—money for payrolls, materials and supplies, taxes, and rental and royalty payments.

And Gulf's activities during 1953 will push ahead its total of 535 wells drilled through 1952—a year which saw completion of 21 producing wells and 21 dry holes in 42 attempts.

Looking forward, Gulf sees the prospect in 1953 of increasing prosperity for all Mississippians through the continued sound development of the state's oil and gas resources.

Yes...The Mother of God WILL Help You!

You may not approve of the age-old Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin.

Perhaps you have heard—and believed—that this is "un-Scriptural"...that Catholics are trying to establish Mary as a divine person equal in power to God.

But if you will look at the facts, you will see that these things are not true...and you will realize that Mary can exert a wonderful influence in your personal life.

It certainly is not "un-Scriptural" to recognize that Mary is the Mother of Jesus Christ. If we are to be truly "Scriptural," we must further acknowledge that Christ is the eternal Son of the eternal Father—a Divine Person who assumed a human nature like ours in all things except sin. And while Mary did not give Jesus His divine nature, the Son was her Son...as truly as anyone is the son of his own mother.

In view of these truths, how can anyone look upon Mary as just another woman, or just another mother? Why should we hesitate to honor one whom God so greatly honored...and upon whom He conferred a surpassing holiness and complete freedom from sin? Why should we believe that one so close to the Son of God in his earthly life is not close and dear to Him in His eternal Kingdom?

It is erroneous, of course, to think that Catholics worship Mary as a divine person. But we do love and venerate her for the unique place she occupies in God's plan for our salvation...for her intimate association with the all-holy Son of God...for her own holiness. But, you may say—why should we pray to Mary when we can pray directly to God, as the Scriptures command? The answer is that Catholics do pray to God and they seek from him grace and forgiveness—for these are blessings which only God can grant. But there is no law of God which commands us, when we go to Him in prayer...that we must go alone.

Like St. Paul, we believe in praying for others and having others pray for us. And whose prayers could find greater favor in the sight of God than those of the Mother of His Divine Son?

These are the chief reasons for the world-wide Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin. These are the reasons why millions of people, in every land and every language, are heard to pray:

"Hail, Mary, full of grace! the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou amongst women; and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus..."

The name of the Blessed Virgin is in the headlines these days...and people everywhere are discussing her place in Catholic devotion. We have prepared a special pamphlet dealing with Mary's place in the Christian creed and will send you a copy free of charge. Write today...ask for Pamphlet No. KC24.
